Impact of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic on our business operations

Dear valued customer and business partners, the safety and health of our Global Davit GmbH team members and their families has our highest priority. Whilst ensuring the best possible safety standards for our employees, we, at Global Davit GmbH, are doing our utmost to continue the best possible support to all our clients.

Our workshop as well as our office is still in operation. However, we kindly ask for your understanding, that the present challenging situation might cause some delays in our response time.

Furthermore, due to the rapidly worldwide expanding of Covid-19, causing complete shutdowns in some areas or at least significant slowdowns, we have to point out, that we will face also delays in our supply chains.

These delays will also impact our delivery schedules to our valued customers and partners. Due to the present uncertain situation, with sudden changes of governmental guidelines, we are not able to inform you about the level of delay. All we can assure is to do our best to keep the level of delays as low as possible and to provide a transparent communication with you as our business partners!

After-Sales activities

Also our after-sales team is available as usually and trying to minimize the impacts on the spare parts supply. As international traveling is not possible at the moment our service team can only provide the local services in our country. Global Davit GmbH has built up an experienced and good working service network with more the 80 service partners stationed all around the globe to assist you when needed. In order to find the closest authorized service partner, please check our webpage at "aftersales" – "service network".
